

December Newsletter

I hope everyone was able to spend a great Thanksgiving with family or friends. It was actually my older daughter's birthday and she is not a fan of the traditional Thanksgiving food so our meals were certainly different but delicious. Can't wait until our Christmas luncheon to celebrate with our guild family. We will officially be moving our meeting location to Trinity Presbyterian Church in January. I will also thank you all for the prayers we have asked for several of our guild members and families over the last several months. I should be finished with radiation treatments by January 14th. And phase 1 of chemo a few weeks later. I will get a few weeks break then start monthly cycles of chemo for the next year so I may be tired at different points but I'm not letting statistics determine my life. I have talked with a 14 year survivor of glioblastoma and she goes to the same oncology group my doctor is part of so that or longer is my goal too. ☺ A positive attitude and continuing to be active is the key to better health. And of course, continued prayers. Blessings to all, Gisele.

Christmas Decorating????

*Tis a quandary for many folks, as November cold winds arrive,
To decide whether to decorate or not, and keep family traditions alive .*

*Seems a weariness sets in for some, decorating energy on the wane,
Some see even thinking about it, with some serious disdain.*

*For some the festive joy, that comes with the work is done,
Is inspiration enough to decorate, and others just make it fun.
The trees both artificial and cut, stand tall in full display.
And brighten even the hardest soul, in a very special way.*

*Often the "kids are gone", is the weary decorators lament
And tis sad to say they are not alone, on this festive annual event.
Of to be able to encourage, to find ways to reenergize,
So folks find new motivation, to not let traditions die.*

*Or maybe some new traditions, or some old modified to share,
With neighbors, friends and others, with needs that we're aware.
Of just for sitting at home evenings, with the world placed on hold,
And as you look across the sea of twinkling lights, think less of being old.*

*Whether clear as crystal, or a rainbow of colored lights,
Even the smallest display beckons one, to share in the delight.
And so as this holiday period, comes to an end that's near,
And plans are made to celebrate, the coming of the New Year.*

*We might take a moment to offer thanks, reach out and offer praise,
To the master we are so grateful, in so many ways.
And maybe as the resolutions are compiled, some worn out year to year.
We'll find the energy to decorate, and renew traditions we hold so dear.*

2026 McKinney Quilters Guild Survey

Each year around this time we put out a questionnaire to find out what this guild likes, dislikes, approves, disapproves, new things to try and a source to use to create the guild that is of interest to each of the members. It is your input that Chairpersons and Co-Chairs use to form their committees for the year. In the past we have had a very low return of the surveys to guide this 120 member guild, so we are asking you to pick one up, fill in your choices and return them.

This year we will be trying to fill the committees with a Chairperson and a Co-Chair so we can run smoothly in case someone is out. Some of the committees are a once a year opportunity to serve and others are every month. Find one to get involved in and get to know a small group to help.

Fill out the survey and return to Sharon Wilhelm.

In January, sign up sheets will be available for you to choose what committee you want to work with.

Please Note: Due to a church conflict, we will be meeting in the Sanctuary-other side of the building for our November Meeting.
